

Welcome to the competence analysis Ceducon.

The research aims, as objective as possible, to provide images of your personal characteristics and behavior toward the expected development for these specific characteristics (self-analysis). Questions may include

- How can I develop?
- What can I contribute?
- How do I learn?
- What is my PDP look like?

Especially in the conversation with our consultant, these questions are discussed. The results of this study constitute a good basis.

Results and comments

After answering all the questions you get a brief profile description and a graphic image that depicts the outcome of the investigation in eight distinctive axes. The full results of this study are in a personal interview explained, then you will receive a writing report. If you want to print this information, click the upper left of the screen to 'File' then 'Print'

Code and personal data

The outcome of the research with your code are stored in a database. We guarantee that no personal information will be stored.

Instructions

In examining your behavior one of the answers you need to click, take the one that best applies to you. This study consists of 128 questions. You will then receive a link to the questionnaire values

In examining your values you will see a reduction. Then chose to what you agree or disagree here. This study consists of 64 questions.

Note: You can not separate correct question answered! If you believe that your answer(s) definitely are not the right ones, you can choose the questionnaire(s) completely re-fill. However, that is only if you have not reached the end of a questionnaire. If you stopped completing the questionnaire halfway, all is lost and you must answer the questionnaire (s) again to fill.
